Why Be a Member?

info@morha.org

MRHA members drive change by gathering and sharing relevant data to promote informed decision-making and increased collaboration across sectors. MRHA's communication pipeline provides individuals and communities with information and tools to understand health care issues and their role in shaping and improving their community.

MRHA accomplishes its mission by engaging in partnerships and providing leadership on rural issues through advocacy, communication, and education.

Your support keeps Missouri as a national leader in addressing rural health issues, especially in the areas of access to care, transportation, and cross-sector collaboration.

MRHA FOCUS:

- Support local efforts to address emerging health-related issues
- Challenge public and private funding sources to invest more robustly in rural communities
- Lead transformation of non-emergency medical transportation approach in Missouri
- Serve as a voice for members on rural health issues at the state and national levels
- Provide timely training and technical assistance
